What is the California Evidence-Based Clearinghouse (CEBC)?

The CEBC (www.cebc4cw.org) is a free-to-access website that provides plain-language summaries of research studies on a broad range of intervention and prevention programs for children, youth, and parents. The CEBC has reviewed and rated over 450 programs across child welfare, mental health, and other relevant areas.

How can residential & foster family providers benefit from understanding & using the CEBC?

These agencies can use the CEBC to identify evidence-based practices (EBPs) for addressing the needs of children and youth in their care, such as placement stabilization, permanency enhancement, and trauma-informed care. The CEBC can also provide these agencies with information & resources on how to improve their implementation efforts.
